Stormwater inlet and outlet inspections are to begin Monday, February 12

Public Works crews will be inspecting stormwater infrastructure throughout the entire City

February 9, 2024 (Peoria, IL) Beginning on Monday, February 12, weather permitting, Public Works staff will start a dry weather screening project. Dry weather screening is an inspection process of stormwater inlets and outlets. These inspections help assess the conditions of stormwater infrastructure.

The work will occur over the next several weeks throughout the City. Residents may see City crews near private property while accessing some stormwater inlets and outlets. Drivers also should be mindful of staff members working in the right-of-way and exercise caution in these areas.
